MAYKELL CARRILLO

Front-end Developer

I am a web developer, mainly focused on the Front-end side with React and some of the React based frameworks. I like to keep myself constantly learning new technologies especially when there are challenges that push me to gain new knowledge and improve as a person or as a professional.

EXPERIENCE

Front-end Developer - EDteam

December 2020 - present

Maintenance, correction and implementation of new features on the platform with Next.js (React). 100% remote from the beginning in the position, managing times, activities and goals with Scrum methodology.
One of the notable challenges that I have had has been to separate and refactor (from scratch) the entire public web of the platform in a separate project, going from class components to functional ones and migrating from javascript to typescript in the process with remarkable performance results.

Front-end Developer - Studio Wrap

2020

The idea of this project was to create a SPA to show the catalog of the company and in which I was the only developer.
